Hunt Dorfman Link In Teamster Deal

The Illinois Department of Insurance began an investigation Tuesday to determine whether Allen M. Dorfman is involved in the operations of Summit Fidelity & Surety Co. of Akron, Ohio.

Lawrence A. Berman, chief attorney for the department here, said he wants to find out what business relationship, if any, exists between Dorfman and Sol C. Schwartz, secretary-treasurer of Summit's Illinois agency.

Teamster Bonding

Summit has accepted applications for bonds from some 400 locals of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters — business totaling an estimated $3,000,000 and having a $5,

...potential from teamster... sources.

Dorfman's Union Insurance Agency, 9 E. Huron, has been for the union's General States Conference in maximum... hundred-dollar amounts.

Joseph S. Cerber, Illinois insurance director, revoked Dorfman's state insurance broker's license for alleged mishandling of $51,461.66 in insurance premiums paid by laid-off members of Local 1031, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Dorfman later was granted a court stay of the revocation, pending an appeal for review of the order.

Schwartz, an independent insurance broker, is known to...

...came an end of its business operations in spite of Dorf...

New Law's Provisions

The new labor law that became effective Jan. 1 provides up-to-date bonding provisions for labor-handling union officials.

Nesbitt Schwartz for Dorfman could be reached for comment. But Irwin S. Whitner, president of Summit's Illinois agency, 134 N. La Salle, declared that Dorfman is not involved in any of the agency's business.

Summit's license was revoked in Massachusetts for failure to comply with state laws. The Massachusetts Supreme Court upheld the revocation by a ...lower court in 1955.

Summit's problems in connection with its plans to write bonds for teamsters' officials also have been investigated by the Senate rackets committee.

Records at the Illinois Insurance Department show that Allen S. Blatt, board chairman of Summit, also is president of the Reserve Insurance Co., 180 W. Adams. He was unavailable for comment.

An examination by the Ohio Insurance Department in September, 1958, of the Summit firm disclosed that Reserve bought all of Summit's 2,000 shares on Feb. 11, 1956. Five shares have been given to the directors to qualify them for the board.

Hoffa's Pal A. M. Dorfman Loses Permits

Used Teamster Funds Illegally, Illinois Claims

CHICAGO.—The revocation of the state insurance broker's and agent's licenses of Alex M. Dorfman, who collected multi-million dollar commissions by insuring Teamster Union welfare plans, was ordered Friday by Joseph Gerber, Director of the State Insurance Department.

Mr. Gerber followed the recommendations of Lawrence A. Berman, department attorney, who ruled that Mr. Dorfman illegally withheld for personal use $1,... received from group policy holders in a labor union while they were not working.

Mr. Dorfman's attorney, Stanford Clinton, said he would appeal the ruling.

Mr. Dorfman is a close friend of James R. Hoffa, Teamster Union president.

Mr. Dorfman, with his brother, Rose, runs the Union Insurance Agency of Illinois. In the last several months Mr. Dorfman's insurance licenses in Michigan and New York have also been revoked.

The State Insurance Department acted on evidence from the Senate Labor Rackets Committee which revealed that Mr. Dorfman [illegible] $21,461 in premiums from unemployed members of Local 1031, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, instead of turning the money over to the Northeastern Life Insurance Company of Mount Vernon, N.Y.

Mr. Dorfman had insisted that he thought he had the right to do anything he wanted with the premiums.

The order means that he cannot supply life insurance license here for two years.

STATE: Payoff Charged To Hoffa

The Chicago underworld, charged the Senate rackets committee on Wednesday, received about $1,000,000, in eight years from teamster union funds "to pay off a long-standing debt." The money allegedly went to Paul Dorfman of Chicago, who was said to have represented Teamster leader Jimmy Hoffa, as the Midwest arbitrator in labor disputes.

Dorfman and his son, Allen M., did business as Central States Conference (teamsters) welfare fund policies valued at more than $3,000,000 in the last eight years. The $1,670,000 represented what the committee called "excess commissions."

In separate action, Allen M. Dorfman, in an Illinois Insurance Department license hearing, insisted he had done nothing wrong in writing some electrical workers' union insurance premiums and temporarily using the money as he saw fit.

A COMMITTEE OF THE CHECAGO Bar Assn. rebuked State's Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski for "reckless inflammatory," and unethical criticism of Criminal Court judges. The committee report, approved by the association's board of managers, followed an investigation of Adamowski's "professional propriety."

State's attorney's and sheriff's police raided 14 gambling establishments in Schiller Park, Franklin Park and Cicero, seizing 80 persons, slot machines and other gambling paraphernalia. . . . The new executive director of the Commission on Youth Welfare in Chicago promised to start programs in three neighborhoods by Oct. 1 to combat juvenile delinquency. Charles P. Livermore spoke to reporters in Mayor Daley's office.

At a National Labor Relations Board hearing in Chicago, spokesmen for Local 777, Chicago Teamsters Union, the Yellow Cab Co. and the Checker Cab Co. sought to exclude their organizations from NLRB jurisdiction. Joseph P. Glimco, president of the local, had his driver's license revoked because of traffic convictions. . . . A Lake County grand jury expressed its "shock and dismay" at Gov. Stevenson's veto of a bill outlawing pinball machines used as gambling devices.

ELSEWHERE IN THE CHICAGO AREA: Cook County reported an increase of 586 in recipients of relief in July as compared to June. . . . Chicago had 31,750 families were relocated since 1950 to make room for public works projects. . . . Representatives of 13 civic groups supported Daley's proposal for the location of a University of Illinois Chicago campus in an area north of the Loop.

DEATH came to veteran Chicago Fire Department battalion chief Daniel J. Ahern, 68; Dr. Harry Culver, 71, noted urologist, former Cook County Hospital department head; Samuel A. Bingham, 77, manufacturer; Charles D. Youngblood, 70, labor union leader; James Malinow, 82, banker; Harry Grabiner, 67, retired executive; Eugene T. Turney, 70, musician and inventor; Wade W. Ellis, 79, city employe; Ben Mendel, 66, civic leader; Ben Scott, 54, restaurateur; John M. V. Dyas, 77, wife of a Springfield (Ill.) editor.

TEAMSTER INSUROR
ASSAILED IN ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Aug 6—Allen M. Dorfman, a young Chicago broker who wrote insurance for the welfare funds of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, kept for his use [illegible] that boomed in a New York insurance company, [illegible] of-ficial company of Miami Veteran, N. Y., were introduced into evidence as the State insurance Department opened a hearing on whether to revoke his Illinois insurance license.

The checks were written by Mr. Dorfman in behalf and to investment and all well con-cern, according to Robert Dietl and Vaughan Woodruff, lawyers for the State Insurance Depart-ment.

The hearing was before Law-rence A. Berman, a hearing of-ficer for the insurance depart-ment.

Mr. Dorfman has contended that the $81,461 in Northeastern company premiums were placed in his private account by mis-take. In 1957, when his in-surance agency was under scrutiny by Congressional in-vestigators, he refunded $29,000 to the Northeastern Company.

As a result of disclosures by the Senate Select Committee on improper activities in the Labor or Management Field, State insurance officials in Illinois, Michigan and Kentucky have moved to revoke his li-censes in their states.

ALONG WITH HOFFA

Dorfmans Eligible For Mob 'Register'

If gangsters and hoodlums have a social register, Paul J. Dorfman and his son, Allen M., are in it with their dues paid.

Teamster President James R. Hoffa

The Senate rackets investigating committee has charged that Paul Dorfman introduced Hoffa to Midwest mob society.

• • •

THE Dorfmans, through mob and labor union connections, amassed a fortune in a few years by setting up an insurance company with $5,000

They shared a vast share of the gigantic health-welfare insurance of the Teamsters and several other unions for their insurance outfit.

The Senate committee charged that Hoffa used $3 million of Teamster money to pay off a long-time debt to the Chicago underworld and to the former labor leader who introduced him to Midwest mob society—Paul Dorfman.

PAUL DORFMAN was held to secure bond terms as secretary-treasurer of AFL-CIO Federal Local 20457, Waste Material Handlers union, a group of 1,000 junk yard workers. The AFL-CIO kicked him completely out of the federation in December, 1957.

Dorfman had run the union for nearly 18 years.

Dorfman, nicknamed "Red," is a pug-nosed, freckle-faced tough who used to be a police fighter, with a police record.

Congressional committees have probed his family's insurance company, the Union Insurance Agency of Illinois, 3 E. Huron, since 1953—three years after it was organized.

Dorfman, 58, of 3801 Sheridan rd., was born on Chicago's West Side.

HE WAS indicted in [illegible] on charges of [illegible] perjury in connection with the April primary that year.

He was charged with having altered ballots in the 12th precinct of the 24th ward in favor of then State's Attorney Richard E. Ogilvie and other "Democratic Party" candidates.

Criminal court records show no disposition of the case.

Daniel A. Gilbert, former special investigator for the state's attorney's office, said that Dorfman showed up in March, 1960, at a meeting of Federal Local 20457, pleading down a few dollars as union dues — and was made secretary-treasurer of the union.

• • •

DORFMAN was arrested March 18, 1952, on a charge of assault to commit mayhem in connection with the beating of an official of a junk dealers association, but later was freed.

Dorfman and Hoffa owned a number resort in northern Wisconsin and also had other joint investments.

Attorney Hoffa is in Chicago. Dorfman usually is his chauffeur, driving Hoffa

...from the Teamsters' suite in the Sheraton hotel, 3400 N. Sheridan rd., to Teamsters meetings.

Dorfman's wife, Rose, former resident, is a partner in the insurance agency, though Paul contends he has nothing to do with it.

Allen, 32, at 1258 Sheridan rd., Highland Park, attended the University of Illinois and had a remarkable record in the Marines in World War II. He went with him in the insurance business after his discharge from service.

Dorfman Ordered To Kentucky Quiz

Troubles continued to pile up Thursday for Allen M. Dorfman, Chicago insurance agent, because of his business dealings with Teamster Union boss James R. Hoffa.

Out Thursday, Kentucky insurance commissioner, ordered Dorfman and his associate, Sol C. Schwartz, to appear in Frankfort on Aug. 14 and explain why their license to operate in Kentucky should not be suspended or revoked.

They are licensed there as non-resident insurance agents.

• • •

MICHIGAN'S insurance commissioner, Frank Millikin has set Sept. 1 for hearing on Dorfman's license to hold a license in that state.

Dorfman testified Wednesday at a hearing in Lansing that he was repaid for premiums he advanced for a $200,000 life insurance policy on Hoffa.

Frank Blackford, state insurruling that Dorfman is "not a fit and proper person" to hold non-resident agent's licenses in Michigan.

The ruling followed detailed hearings that began in March, in which Dorfman was charged with misrepresentation on his applications for nonresident licenses for Dover Insurance Agency, Ltd., and Union Insurance Agency of Illinois; paying premiums on life insurance poliby a Chicago labor union.

"The facts brought out in the course of the hearing leave no doubt that Dorfman has infringed — and violated the provisions contained upon his license granted by the state of Michigan," Blackford ruled.
On the specific charges, Black-ford decided:
Misrepresentation on applications — "I cannot accept Dorf-man's contention" that incorrect entries were due to inadver-tence." Even if that argument were accepted — "it would indicate a continuing administrative procedure which is not consistent with minimal standards of operation for an insurance agency." Mishandling premiums — "The law of the jurisdictions involved imposes upon agents an obligation to treat such moneys as fiduciary funds and in a fiduciary capacity." Blackford rejected Dorfman's contention the insur-rectly or indirectly, any rebate of, or part of, the premium pay-

It was not disputed that such payments were made on behalf of the Teamster policyholders. Neither was there refutation of the fact that such payments were carried on the books receivable approximan testified repayment had been made, Blackford found "he was unable to give information as to when, how or under what circumstances repayment was effected."

Among the Dorfman hearings expired April 1. The final decision, coming several months later, was to deny renewal of the licenses.

Dorfman, who is licensed in a said.

Slade Awaits Ruling On Hoffa Report

Special To The Louisville Times

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 11—The question is now up in the air as to whether a couple of volumes of Senate rackets committee reports a hearing involving the right of the Illinois insurance man to do business in Kentucky.

The State Insurance Department brought complaints against Allen Dorfman of Chicago and Sol Schwerb of Lincolnwood, Ill., and based them on the Senate committee reports linking the pair in improper dealings with Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa.

Assistant Attorney General Earl V. Powell, presiding at the hearing here, withheld a ruling on the admissibility of the rackets committee reports. He said he would study the matter and then recommend a course of action to Insurance Commissioner C. P. Thurman.

Improper Answer Charged

The Associated Press here recently reported yesterday that Powell had accepted the volumes of committee reports. Insurance Department counsel J. D. Adkisson, unable to use the Senate committee material as a basis for questioning, said his entire case rested on the premise that Dorfman answered a question improperly when applying for a Kentucky license.

The question asked if the applicant would transact [illegible] ally all his life insurance business in Kentucky. Dorfman answered "Yes." Testimony in the hearing brought out that Dorfman had only one group insurance policy in Kentucky—with the Teamsters Union.

Dorfman Helps Shift Of 2 Coast Teamster Locals' Insurance

By ED GUTKNECHT

Allen Dorfman, son of a close friend of Teamsters R. Hoffa, Teamsters' Union president, was helpful recently in swinging the group life-insurance coverage of two Teamsters' locals in Portland, Ore., and Los Angeles to the Republic National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, Tex., The Times learned today.

Dorfman's firm, Union Insurance Agency of Chicago, which he operates with his mother, Rose, and the Dorfmans' connections with Hoffa and the Teamsters in the Midwest, have figured in several investigations by Congress and other bodies since 1954.

Father Ousted

The A. F. of L.-C. I. O. last August ousted Dorfman's father, Paul, as secretary-treasurer of Chicago Local 20467 of the Waste Handlers' Union.

The ouster was based in part on findings that the elder Dorfman [illegible] of union business to "the" insurance agency and with his wife shared in the agency's substantial financial profit.

The biggest chunk of the insurance agency's business has come from the Central States Conference of Teamsters' welfare fund, of which Hoffa was a trustee before becoming general president of the Teamsters last month.

Young Dorfman previously had sought to act as broker or consultant for any of the group life-insurance or health-and-welfare plans the Western Conference of Teamsters.

50-Cent Rate Offered

On February 4—within a week after Hoffa dedicated Labor Temple here in Beck — Dorfman telegraphed some Teamsters' locals in the West, quoting Republic's offer to underwrite group life policies at 50 cents a month for $1,000 of insurance.

Since 1948, Western Conference locals have purchased group life insurance through the Occidental Life Insurance Co. of California at 84 cents for $1,000—pooling the risk on the principle that locals with good experience ratings would carry locals with bad experience ratings.

The two locals that switched to Republic are Warehousemen's Local 206, Portland, with 2,300 members, and Freight Drivers' Local 208, Los Angeles, which has 4,500 members. Both have many young members and have a good life-insurance experience rating.

"Jack Estabrook, secretary-treasurer of Local 206, and John Pillipot, secretary-treasurer of Local 208, are key Teamsters of Hoffa in the West.

[illegible] Employer

Dorfman told The Times he acted as "consultant" in the deal. Insurance agencies in Portland and Los Angeles will replace George C. Newell of Seattle as broker on the two policies, Dorfman said. He declined to identify the agencies.

"I like to do things for the (Teamsters') organization," Dorfman said. "I felt as though something should be done."

Dorfman said he planned to bid on other insurance and health-and-welfare policies covering Teamsters in the Western Conference as the policies come up for renewal.
